IFSL Harewood UK Enhanced Income Fund Class B Income
ISIN : GB00B61HS742 BLOOMBERG : HAUKEBI:LN REUTERS : 68049054

This fund is managed by Investment Fund Services Limited

A sub-fund of the IFSL Structured Solutions OEIC

Objectives and Investment Policy

The aim is to provide you with a quarterly income payment and a return on your investment through exposure to the UK stock market. Through your investment you will be exposed to the total performance (both income payments and capital growth) of the FTSE 100 Index (the "Index").

To achieve the aim, the fund will enter into a financial contract (derivative) with BNP Paribas under which cash amounts are paid to the fund reflecting the total performance of the Index and the returns made by selling short term financial products (known as call options) linked to the Index.

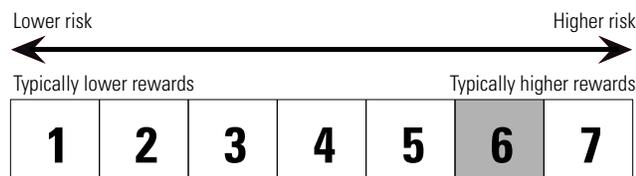

Call options are financial contracts which give buyers the right, but not the obligation, to buy an underlying instrument at a certain time in the future for a certain price. The fund does not actually enter into call options but the derivative entered into with BNP Paribas is designed to provide the economic effect of a call option strategy based upon the Index. Income is generated when a call option is sold which is "out-of-the-money", meaning that the current price of the underlying instrument is below the set price agreed in the option at the time which it is agreed.

Call options which are sold and are "in-the-money", meaning that the current price of the underlying instrument is above the set price agreed in the option at the time which it is agreed, are designed to cushion the fund from the effects of falls in the value of the Index.

Income, if any, is distributed quarterly after the deduction of management fees and applicable taxes.

You can sell all or part of your investment whenever you like subject to the minimum holding requirements.

Risk and Reward Profile

The rating is based on price volatility over the last five years, and is an indicator of risk. Historical data may not be a reliable indication for the future. The rating is not guaranteed to remain unchanged and may shift over time. The lowest rating does not mean a risk-free investment.

The risk indicator for the fund is as above because it gives exposure to a stock market. Stock market prices can move irrationally and can be affected unpredictably by diverse factors, including political and economic events.

Other particular risks:

The fund may enter into various financial contracts (known as derivatives) with another party. There is a risk that this party may fail to make its payments or become insolvent which may result in the fund and your investment suffering a loss.

All or part of the fees and expenses may be charged to the capital of the fund. This will have the effect of lowering the value of your investment.

The Index is based on rules but may involve the deduction of fees and some ability for the Index sponsor or investment manager to choose constituents of the Index or to adjust certain aspects of the Index. This, as well as changes in the price volatility of the Index, may affect the value of your investment.

Future legal or regulatory change, including tax changes, could have a substantial adverse effect on the fund and your investment.

The fund is not guaranteed and your investment is at risk. You may lose some or all of your investment. The amount of income you may receive is not guaranteed and may fluctuate.

The use of call options may limit the benefit from increases to the value of the Index and restricts the potential for the growth of the fund. Trading costs of the options will be affected by the volatility of the Index and may affect the value of your investment.

Various companies within the BNP Paribas group of companies perform the roles of managing the fund, entering into or calculating the value of the derivatives or safekeeping the assets of the fund. Investors may suffer loss as a result of any potential lack of independence of these parties. Whilst procedures have been put in place to reduce this risk, the risk cannot be wholly eliminated.
